

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF CLINICAL SKILLS

The IJOCS Award 2011

Your chance to win £1000

Hampton Bond

Following the tremendous success of 'The IJOCS Award 2010' the International Journal of Clinical Skills (IJOCS) is giving you the opportunity to publish your own book! Your creative ideas should be related to the fields of healthcare or education and may include a standard textbook, an illustrative guide, a revision manual, a comical text or even an innovative fiction story.

The winner will be awarded £1000 and have their entry published internationally by Hampton Bond. Runners-up will also have their books published. All successful authors will receive an Award Certificate and royalty payments.

Who can enter? Anyone - entries are welcome from all health professionals and all training grades, so whether you are a student or doctor, nurse or physiotherapist, if you have an original book proposal, now is the time to share it and get recognition at an international level, as well as having the prestigious IJOCS Award 2011 on your CV.

Multiple author and institutional entries are welcome. All entries will be judged by the IJOCS Executive Board. For further information, deadlines and details on how to enter please visit www.ijocs.org
